MARKET IS AGAIN HIT BY BEARISH RUMORS OF THE WAR

Practically Every Leading Stock on the List Declines. Some Make Recoveries But Market is Decidedly Lower.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The market was put to another severe test of its inherent strength today, people share receding from four to 15 points in a succession of declines, but recovering a considerable part of their loss forwards the close on further supporting orders from banking sources. At the day's minimum quotations most low prices were made by almost every item of importance for the current movement.

Conditions growing out of the Italian disaster and its attendant circumstances were again potent influences, combined with a revival of hostilities and rumors which gave rise to the gravest apprehensions. Foreign selling was also a factor with fluctuations in Europe, particularly in London, attaining formidable proportions.

Steel was the center of persistent selling throughout, falling 15 to 18 for the lowest price in five weeks, and recording a net loss of three points in dealings aggregating 150,000 shares. Amalgamated was another weak leader, but Reading and Union Pacific made substantial recoveries.

Bethlehem Steel and Westinghouse Electric bore the brunt of attacks upon war shares, the former making a net loss of eight points and the latter four. New York Airbrake, on light offerings, lost much with Bethlehem Steel.

Although the bond market was at times seriously disturbed, investment conditions lost none of their firmness as was seen in sale of virtually the entire $55,000,000 new Pennsylvania Railroad bonds. Keen inquiry was made about the $25,000,000 Argentine notes offered by banking syndicates. Sales of stocks aggregated 1,235,000 shares.

BOSTON, May 10.—The future of the market depends on the war news. Of course today there was a large amount of frightened selling and short selling, all of which stock went into strong hands. We do not advise sacrificing stocks but we think it good judgment to lighten up on all strong spots until the situation becomes more clear.

COMMENTS ON U. S.

BETHLEHEM, May 10.—Dr. J. J. Johnson, professor at the University of Berlin, in an article commencing upon the first report on the new federal reserve banks in the United States, says:

"Although the report covers only the operations for six weeks it nevertheless offers an imposing picture and confirms in all respects my opinion, earlier expressed, that a financial work was being quietly done here which would enable us to grow into a rival of unimpeded importance for the position of the English money market."

THANK QUEEN MARY

LONDON, May 10.—Letters signed by 400 British soldiers have been sent to Queen Mary, telling of the benefit they received from a Young Men's Christian Association recreation unit named in her honor and situated in the rear of the fighting line in France.

The Y. M. C. A. has a number of these amusement shelters for soldiers in France. Two of them were built under peculiar circumstances. For one, the money was collected from more than 400,000 boys and girls in England, who gave their pennies. Contributions from 5000 owners of dogs and cats paid for the other.

Arrangements have been made to send over 24 billion tickets to the units in France. The soldiers are now painting flowers and shrubs about the premises.

JAP CAUSES WORRY IN STATE CAPITAL

PHOENIX, May 10.—Employing all the wiles of the oriental, it seems a young Japanese, shortly before being arrested, last night attempted to carry out one of the best planned robberies reported in many months. A robbery in which there was evident intent to commit murder, and succeeded only in badly beating up Pong Yuen, proprietor of a store at 115 West Madison street and throwing all of Chinatown into a condition bordering on panic. The quick response of the police resulted in the arrest of Yuen before he was able to make his way from the Yuen establishment.

Yuen, one of the oldest and most respected merchants of Chinatown, lives in the basement of his store. Entrance to the basement is effected by the narrow stairs of the rear of the building. The store was very substantial in all other respects.

Yuen, who is a native of China, has one house maid at the store, and arranged that unless one knows just where to place his foot, it will slip up and send the unfortunates sprawling. This house maid, probably scared Yuen's life.

Yuen before starting out on his mission blackened his face and then placed a short but stout rope in his pocket. Overcoming the barriers at the rear of the Yuen store, Yuen made his way into the store and down the stairway. He groped in the darkness and listened for the measured breathing of Yuen. Satisfied that he had located him, Yuen proceeded and then stepped upon the loose board.

Instantly Yuen was wide awake and on the alert. His first move caught the sensitive ear of Yuen who had risen from the floor and who at once grappled with him. In the darkness the two struggled back and forth. Yuen all the time endeavoring to secure a strangle hold on his aged victim. But Yuen succeeded in keeping Yuen's fingers from his throat and set up a cry that roused all of Chinatown. Then Yuen began using his fists and then his feet. He battered Yuen's face until he blood was flowing from a dozen wounds. He threw him against the stone walls of the basement inflicting deep bruises in the scalp. And then he kicked him into unconsciousness on the cement floor.

While this was going on and after the cries of Yuen had roused his neighbors, the police were hurrying to the scene. Yuen taking time out to remove his shoes, which he left alongside Yuen's store, made his way up the narrow stairs and finally into a small room just at the rear of the counters in Yuen's store. There he closed the door and crawled under a straw matting couch, endeavoring to conceal himself behind suit cases, bottles and jars which were present in profusion.

Night Captain of Police John J. McGrath who had arrived with the patrol men and other officers, made a careful survey of the cellar and failing to find the robber instituted a search of the main floor. As he entered the room at the rear of the counters, his flashlight in one hand and his gun in the other, he heard a movement and then a crash as Yuen came from under the couch. Surprised by the noise of the officer's gun, Yuen threw up his hands and surrendered.

At the police station he refused to make any statement other than to give his name. A physician was summoned and spent 45 hours in dressing the numerous wounds of Yuen.

ASQUITH USES SLANG

LONDON, May 10.—Premier Asquith has used the phrase "daffodil the goods". The premier is noted for his precise and classical English, and when he puts his seal on an Americanism it is in a fair way to become incorporated in English usage.

"David George," comments one paper, "who is more forceful but not so classical as Asquith, said about lunch and tea: 'Now, I'm going for Mr. Balfour. If he can spare a moment from his duty, at the adjournment, to tell me to get a move on.' But our statesman took time for some distance to go before they attain the homeliness of phrase of America's public men."

AMERICA'S MOST BEAUTIFUL GIRL AND NEWPORT'S NOTED BELE BOTH ENGAGED

In the ranks of the younger set of the social elite there are probably no more popular debutantes than the Misses Marie Teller and Margaret Andrews. Both are now engaged. Miss Teller, called the most beautiful girl in America by the Car's cousin, is to marry S. Bryce Wing of New York. Miss Andrews, a noted Newport belle, is engaged to Morgan Belmont, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont.

MANY CLOTHES PROVIDED

ROTTERDAM, Holland, May 10.—The Rockefeller Foundation, from its Dutch headquarters here has provided numerous Belgians in their own country with no fewer than 1,415,212 garments.

Among the Belgian refugees in Holland it has distributed over 300,000 pieces. The Foundation has also looked after the welfare of the Belgian refugees in the Dutch camps by providing them with employment. Sewing classes have been formed in 25 camps and 115 sewing machines have been placed at the disposal of the women, 3000 of whom are engaged in making clothing for their fellow-refugees from the war.

WOOL AUCTION HELD

LONDON, May 10.—The fourth series of Colonial wool auctions which should have opened on April 20, has had to be postponed till April 27, owing to the continued congestion at the docks and difficulty in getting new arrivals into warehouses. The wool sold in the last series has been moving off very slowly to Bradford and there is a great back at the docks which increases with practically every fresh load arriving. These steamers, it is pointed out, are allowed to come up to an hour only perishable goods.

There has been practically no wool changing hands since the close of the recent auctions for the reason that buyers are unable to get delivery of purchases made last month. Prices are not expected to be changed from those current at the end of March. At present the trade is faced with a scarcity of raw materials in the manufacturing centers, plenty of wool in sight but unable to move and "tops" particularly scarce, commanding at most any price.

The postponement of the sales, it is hoped, will give many Americans a better opportunity of getting over to participate. Licenses are said to have been granted rather more freely for American purchases made during the last series or two but shipment is frequently delayed by transportation difficulties and the admiralty common docking steamers at the last moment. A case in point is the steamer "Columbia," which has quite a large quantity of wool on board for the Boston. The government suddenly decided to have this particular boat fitted up with horse boxes in order to bring back a consignment of horses from the United States. Consequently the sailing was delayed.

Keep the Children Bright and Happy

Happy youngsters must be healthy. The digestive organs of children get out of order as readily as do those of the elders and this is said in equally as distressing. When the bowels are clogged with an accumulation of refuse, soon the stomach the child naturally becomes cross and fretful from the discomfort, and is often punished for temper when medical attention is really what is needed.

The next time your child is cross and unhappy, without any apparent reason, try giving it a mild laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild, pleasant tasting combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and is especially recommended for children because of its freedom from all opiate or narcotic drugs and its gentle action. It is sold in drug stores everywhere. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. H. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, N.Y.
